PASTOR'S THOUGHTS

But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you (Matthew 6:33 NKJV).

We are a little put off by people who are almost fanatically devoted to a single cause. And yet, the people God uses are known for their single-minded dedication.

In the book by Dr. M. Scott Peck, People of the Lie, he writes about one of his most difficult counselling situations. He described a woman who was at a crucial point in her counselling, right after she explained that everything in life seemed meaningless to her. Dr. Peck then asked her what she thought that the meaning of life was. When she refused to answer, he asked her what she thought that the purpose of life was to a Christian.

"We exist for the glory of God," she said in a low monotone statement, as if extracted from her by torture. "The purpose of our life is to glorify God." There was a short silence. For a moment Peck thought she might cry.

"I cannot do it," she said. "There's no room for me in that. That would be my death." Then with a suddenness that frightened Peck, what seemed to be her choked-back sobs turned into a roar. "I don't want to live for God," she cried out, "I want to live for me. For my own sake!"

There are many people who want to live for themselves. They don't mind fiddling with religion, but they would never dream of focusing everything they are and everything they have on that one grand commitment to God. What they don't realize is that real joy comes from selling yourself out to your Creator God and in that knowing His incredible love He always has for us.

God calls the people who are willing to lay down their lives fully committed to Him. God calls people who are single-minded in their devotion to Him. If we live for today and its pleasures alone, then perhaps it is understandable that we have little concern for God's righteousness and justice.

But if there is something more to life; if there is a righteous God who has lovingly created this world and dearly holds the people in it, then realize that He seeks the best welfare of all its people. Our willingness to order our lives according to His spiritual principles is quite important. Think of Billy Graham, Mother Teresa, or any number of Spirit-filled Christians living the joy of the Lord and in full dedication to God. They live to serve God with their whole being.

From these people, there seem to be two characteristics of the kind of people God chooses.

First of all, you've got to give your life, your dreams and your deepest desires to God. You will discover God's dreams are the very dreams that will fulfill you. Are you willing to live your life in the center of God's will? Will God's dreams become your dreams; if not, talk to Him about it.

Suppose that this kind of commitment was required in order to be used by God. The French Foreign Legion had this slogan: "If I falter, push me; If I stumble, pick me up; If I retreat, shoot me." Would you qualify?

Second of all, the people God uses are people who are known for their single-minded devotion to Him. Have you fully devoted yourself to Him?

If you call yourself a Christ-follower, why not have a talk with God about where your life is headed? Tell God that you want to fully seek Him first. Realize that you'll never come in second, if you put God first!

Seek Ye First

Seek ye first the Kingdom of God
And His righteousness
And all these things shall be added unto you
Allelu Alleluia

Man shall not live by bread alone
But by every word
That proceeds from the mouth of God
Allelu Alleluia

Ask and it shall be given unto you
Seek and ye shall find
Knock and the door shall be opened unto you
Allelu Alleluia

Alleluia Alleluia
Jesus be my first love
Alleluia Alleluia
Lord you will guide me
As I seek You

Moving Heaven and Earth – Understanding the Potential of Prayer

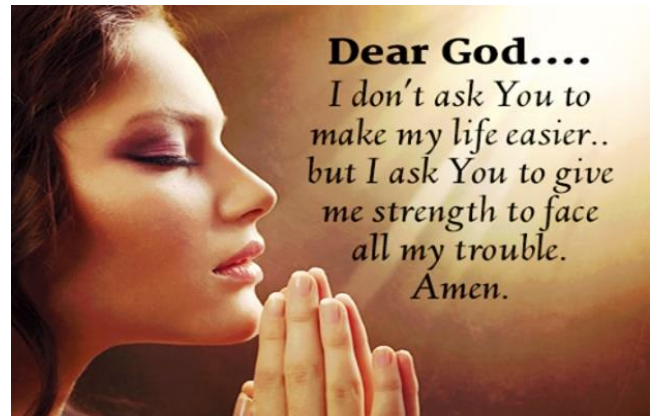

Professor Jerry Sittser tells the story of his colleague, Howard Gage, who died from complications associated with Parkinson's disease. Several months before his death, Howard preached in chapel and talked about Paul's three-fold prayer request to be delivered from his thorn in the flesh (2 Corinthians 12:8). Like Paul, Howard had prayer for healing from his affliction.

God didn't answer his prayer. Howard and his wife faced incredible hardship. His dependence on medication destabilized his emotions and his life. As his physical disabilities grew, his mood swings increased. His friends hardly knew how to handle him. Still Howard kept praying, but his prayer gradually changed. He explained, "On the days the medicine is not working, the Lord has to give me a lot of grace. In those times, Christ has been there for me."

Sittser observed, "Rather than pray that his weakness to be overcome, he concentrated on God's goodness and strength, which was made perfect in his weakness. He became deeply aware of God's provision in his life." Howard's ability to stay spiritually well-tuned grew, and God gave him tremendous influence. At his memorial service, a speaker asked the large crowd how many of them had shared a significant encounter with Howard in just the two weeks prior to his death. An estimated 150 people stood up!

Sittser said, "Howard's illness did not keep him from praying. If anything, he learned to pray with greater depth, openness, and patience."

We've often heard the phrase: Prayer changes things. That's true, but most of all prayer changes us. Prayer is the divine chamber in which we breath Heaven's oxygen and find constant revitalization within. Yes, God moves heaven and earth to answer our prayers in His own way. But there's something even greater than that. Through prayer, He moves our hearts and souls to know and to trust Him even more. Perhaps everyone occasionally wonders whether our prayer represent real communication to Almighty God or are just a futile practice of psychological optimistic banter. Let me give you three facts about prayer and focus of prayer.

Facts About Prayer

The Promises of Prayer: The same Bible that predicted the coming of Jesus and the same God who raised Jesus from the dead have issued promise after promise about answered prayer. God has told us, "Then you will call upon Me and go and pray to Me, and I will listen to you...Ask and it will be given to you...And whatever things you ask in prayer, believing you will receive... The prayer of the upright is His delight" (Jeremiah 29:12; Matthew 7:7; Matthew 12:12; Proverbs 15:8).

The Practice of Prayer: Remember too, that the habit of prayer is the longest-running practice in the history of the world, going all the way back to the Garden of Eden, when the Lord walked and talked with Adam and Eve in the cool of the day. Since that time, has there ever been a single moment when prayer wasn't rising into heaven from somewhere on earth? Every generation of Christians since the days of the apostolic band has affirmed the blessings of having a daily, abiding habit of prayer. No habit in humanity has been tested with such consistency and enjoyment.

The potential of Prayer: Another fact that's been demonstrated throughout history is the potential of prayer. In the Bible, it was prayer that shut the lion's mouths, raised the dead, delivered the Israelites from slavery and freed Peter from prison. Elijah prayed, and the heavens gave no rain. Job prayed, and his fortunes were restored. Jesus prayed and fed 5000 with a boy's lunch. Paul prayed and saved the crew of a shipwrecked vessel.

In the years since, God's hearing has not diminished. His heart hasn't changed. Your prayers are just as precious to Him as those of any of the biblical characters, and we should never undervalue the potential of prayer in our own lives and in our own times. Prayer changes things, but there's something even greater. Prayer changes us! It is the window that funnels the atmosphere of heaven into our hearts as we await His glorious coming.

The Focus of Prayer

Don't Underestimate God's Power: We can tap into the power of God through prayer. James 5:16 says, "The prayer of the righteous person is powerful and effective" (NIV). None of us are righteous in ourselves, but we are righteous in that Name (Jesus) for whose sake we pray. And because of that Name our prayers are powerful and effective. Another literal rendering of this verse says: "The effective prayer of a righteous person accomplishes much" (LEB).

Don't Underestimate God's Providence: The more we understand James 5:16, the more we see how God answers prayers with His provision. He doesn't always work by miracle; He works through providence. Don't be surprised when you pray one way and the Lord answers in another. In retrospect, you'll find the Lord's way was best, though at the time it leaves you perplexed.

God makes no mistakes when He answers our prayers, and His providence never fails to take the best routes and arrive at the best destination.

Don't Underestimate God's Plans: The reason God's providence proves a blessing is because He has an overarching plan for this world and for each of us. How He merges His plans, our prayers and His ultimate purposes for us – all of that is in the realm of marvelous mystery.

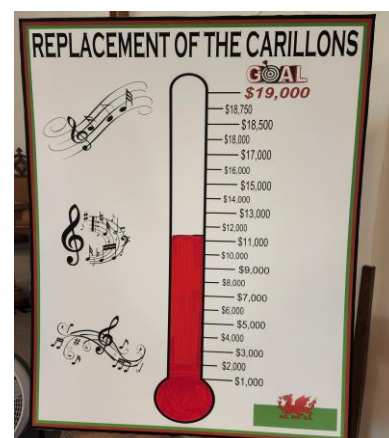

I want to encourage you to work toward a more authentic life of prayer. Learning to pray is a lifetime pursuit. Don't be discouraged. Try finding a chair at home, a table in your room, a moment in your day to develop this dialogue with the Lord. Like the disciples, ask Him to teach you to pray. He will move heaven and earth on your behalf, and as time goes by, you'll learn to interpret His answers.

Jerry Sittser wrote, "In the end we receive answers, for Jesus himself promised it would be so. He commanded us to pray, 'Your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as it is in heaven.' Would He make such a promise, only to refuse to deliver on it? But along the way, there are significant setbacks. The ending is triumphant, though it might not always seem certain. The Kingdom comes, God's will is done, though not right away. God does and will answer our prayers though it may take a while, sometimes a long while." Prayer changes things, but there's something even greater. Prayer changes us! It is the window that funnels the atmosphere of heaven into our hearts as we await His glorious coming.

The Carillon Replacement Project

As shown in our poster, our financial goal is getting closer each week. Our church family has always been known to shine brightly when it comes to setting goals and working together to achieve them.

We are very thankful for all our members, families, and friends that have generously donated. Upon speaking with the Verdin company, who gave us our quote in June, our quote holds the same if reached before August 15, at which time the quote will be increased by 9% or approximately $1,700.00. We will continue to push forward to our goal and praise God for all our help thus far.
